Press release: Volkswagen, Chrysler, Nissan and Chevrolet Are Big Winners of Insure.com's Low Cost Car Insurance Awards

By Insure.com Posted on June 22, 2011

Foster City, CA, June 22, 2011- Editor's note - These lists were updated on July 5, 2011. Insure.com's Low Cost Car Insurance Awards recognize manufacturers that are making vehicles that are the least expensive to insure. Volkswagen, Chrysler, Nissan and Chevrolet took the No. 1 spots on this year's lists of least expensive 2011 cars, vans, SUVs and trucks to insure.

Savvy car buyers should focus on more than simply a vehicle's features and sticker price. A vehicle should also impress when it comes to shopping for car insurance quotes. Being affordable to insure makes a vehicle more attractive to consumers and can simplify the process of choosing a new vehicle for many automotive buyers.

"Congratulations to Volkswagen, Chrysler, Nissan and Chevrolet – they're making the least expensive vehicles to insure in the categories of cars, minivans, SUVs and trucks, respectively," said Amy Danise, senior managing editor of Insure.com. "These vehicles will help you hold down your insurance costs."

The five least expensive vehicles to insure by average annual premium per category, according to the Insure.com's 2011 Low Cost Insurance Awards, are:

Methodology

Insure.com commissioned Quadrant Information Services to conduct a car insurance comparison study of average rates for a representative male driver. Information was collected from six of the largest insurance carriers: State Farm, Allstate, Progressive, GEICO, Farmers and Nationwide. Rates were collected from 10 zip codes in each state. The study of cheap car insurance does not include some exotic and high-end luxury vehicles.
